

Educator's Handbook for Professional Growth & Evaluation

Cascade School District
Updated August 2018

This Document serves as the framework for supporting teachers in the Cascade School District through mentoring, meaningful, aligned professional development, and a focus on teacher collaboration. Teacher practices in concert with effective supervision and evaluation procedures will yield increased student achievement. Thank you to the following professionals, for your work and support of the teachers of the Cascade School District:

Eric	Andersson	Math, Cascade Junior High
Etta	Archer Gross	English, Cascade High School
Sarah	Federico	3 rd Grade, Turner Elementary
Debbie	LeDay	6 th Grade/Counselor, Cascade Junior High
Paula	Mensing	1 st Grade, Aumsville Elementary

Introduction

Several years ago the state set mandates in place regarding evaluation systems, referred to as SB290. This handbook is a living document outlining procedures and processes for continued professional growth for all teachers. The following components are the evaluation requirements. Details of the complete performance evaluation processes and cycles for educators are included.

1) Standards of Professional Practice:

Teachers – ODE approved the INTASC standards for teachers and several frameworks, including the Danielson model. Cascade School District is using the Danielson model as its framework.

2) Differentiated Performance Levels:

Requires four performance levels – Research indicates that using a rubric with four levels and clear descriptors will result in a more objective rating of performance.

3) Multiple Measures:

Evaluation should include multiple measures from the three categories of evidence listed below. Multiple measures refer to the tools, instruments, protocols, assessments and processes used.

a) Professional practice

Teachers: evidence of the quality of a teacher’s planning, delivery of instruction, and assessment of student learning (Ex. observations, examination of lesson plans, student work)

b) Professional responsibilities

Teachers: evidence of the teacher’s progress toward his/her own professional goals and contribution to school-wide goals (Ex. professional goals, teacher reflection, setting student growth goals, peer collaboration)

c) Student learning and growth

Teachers: quantitative evidence of the teacher’s impact on student learning and growth.

All licensed staff are required to set two goals on student learning and growth and a professional growth goal.

4) Evaluation and Professional Growth Cycle:

- Critical steps in the cycle: self-reflection, goal setting, observations and collection of evidence, formative assessment, and summative evaluation
- The Professional Growth and Evaluation cycle supports professional growth and learning. The cycle allows for continued review and feedback as the teacher evaluator plan for opportunities for feedback and meaningful conversations.
- Probationary teachers will have a summative evaluation every year. Contract teachers will have a summative evaluation every other year.

5) Aligned Professional Learning:

- Linking evaluations with high quality professional learning is important
- Informs decisions for professional growth plans

- Relevant to educator's goals and needs

The goal is continuous improvement to increase the quality of instruction in the classroom and leadership within the school district, resulting in improved learning and achievement of all students.

Standards for Professional Practice: Framework for Teaching

Charlotte Danielson's 2007 Teaching Framework identifies those aspects of a teacher's responsibilities that have been documented through empirical studies and theoretical research as promoting improved student learning. Although not the only possible description of practice, these responsibilities seek to define what teachers should know and be able to do in the exercise of their profession.

The Framework for Teaching identifies standards organized into four domains: Planning and Preparation, Instruction, Classroom Environment, and Professional Responsibilities. The rubric breaks down each standard and provides a description of what each standard looks like at the unsatisfactory, basic, proficient, and distinguished levels.

An Overview

By Charlotte Danielson

Domain 1: Planning and Preparation

Instructional planning includes a deep understanding of content and pedagogy and an understanding and appreciation of the students and what they bring to the educational encounter. But understanding the content is not sufficient; the content must be transformed through instructional design into sequences of activities and exercises that make it accessible to students. All elements of the instructional design—learning activities, materials, and strategies—must be appropriate to both the content and the students, and aligned with larger instructional goals. In their content and process, assessment techniques also must reflect the instructional outcomes and should serve to document student progress during and at the end of a teaching episode. Furthermore, in designing assessment strategies, teachers must consider their use for formative purposes, and how assessments can provide diagnostic opportunities for students to demonstrate their level of understanding during the instructional sequence, while there is still time to make adjustments.

Domain 2: The Classroom Environment

Teachers create a learning environment through positive interpersonal interactions, efficient routines and procedures, clear and consistent standards of conduct, and a safe physical environment that supports the learning purposes. In addition, the environment encourages students to take pride in their work and to assume responsibility for their learning. Students respond to the warmth and caring of teachers, their high expectations for achievement, and their commitment to students. Students feel safe with these teachers and know that they can count on the teachers to be fair and, when necessary, compassionate. Students also are sensitive to the subtle messages they receive from teachers as to their capabilities. The components of Domain 2 are not associated with the learning of any particular content; instead, they set the stage for all learning. The teacher establishes a comfortable and respectful classroom environment, which cultivates a culture for learning and creates a safe place for risk-taking. The atmosphere is businesslike, with non-instructional routines and procedures handled efficiently; student behavior is cooperative and non-disruptive; and the physical environment conducive to learning.

Domain 3: Instruction

Domain 3 contains the components that are at the essential heart of teaching—the actual engagement of students in learning, through the vision of students developing complex understanding and participating in a community of learners. Students are engaged in meaningful work, which carries significance beyond the next test and is relevant to students’ lives. Teachers who excel in Domain 3 have finely-honed instructional skills. Their work in the classroom is fluid and flexible; they can shift easily from one approach to another when the situation demands it. They seamlessly incorporate ideas and concepts from other parts of the curriculum into their explanations and activities. Their questions probe student thinking and serve to extend understanding. They are attentive to different students in the class, and the degree to which they are thoughtfully engaged; they carefully monitor student understanding as they go (through well-designed questions or activities) and make minor mid-course corrections as needed. And above all, they promote the emergence of self-directed learners fully engaged in the work at hand.

Domain 4: Professional Responsibilities

The components in Domain 4 are associated with being a true professional educator: they encompass the roles assumed outside of and in addition to those in the classroom with students. Students rarely observe these activities; parents and the larger community observe them only intermittently. But the activities are critical to preserving and enhancing the profession. Educators exercise some of them (for example, maintaining records and communicating with families) immediately upon entering the profession, since they are integral to their work with students. Domain 4 consists of a wide range of professional responsibilities, from self-reflection and professional growth, to participation in a professional community, to contributions made to the profession as a whole. The components also include interactions with the families of students, contacts with the larger community, and advocacy for students. Domain 4 captures the essence of professionalism by teachers; teachers are, as a result of their skills in this domain, full members of the teaching profession, and committed to its enhancement.

Cascade Standards of Professional Practice

(Adapted from Charlotte Danielson's 2007 Framework for Professional Practice)

Domain I: Planning & Preparation

Standard 1: Knowledge of Content

- a. Shows an effective command of the subject to guide student learning.
- b. Uses effective instructional resources, including technology, to communicate content knowledge.
- c. Takes an active role in adopting new content standards and frameworks to their teaching.

Standard 2: Knowledge of Students

- a. Builds upon students' knowledge and experience.
- b. Uses school and district resources to support and advocate for student needs.
- c. Recognizes and addresses students' learning styles.

Standard 3: Instructional Goal Setting

- a. Selects appropriate instructional goals based upon national, state, and local standards.
- b. Selects goals that are measurable and states them in terms of student learning.
- c. Selects goals appropriate for students.

Standard 4: Lesson Design

- a. Designs coherent instruction that reflects research-based best practice.
- b. Designs instruction that promotes critical thinking and problem solving.
- c. Ensures that the curriculum is relevant to student needs.
- d. Adheres to approved Scope and Sequence of subject matter.

Standard 5: Assessment Planning

- a. Is familiar with content area, school, district, and state assessment methods and options.
- b. Uses assessments that are congruent with instructional goals.
- c. Develops and uses a variety of formative and summative assessment tools and information for planning, instruction, feedback, and reflection.

Domain II: Classroom Environment

Standard 6: Climate of Respect and Learning

- a. Creates an environment that promotes equity, respect, and positive interpersonal interactions.
- b. Interactions are appropriate to developmental and cultural norms.
- c. High expectations for student success, quality work, and student achievement.
- d. Students are actively engaged.

Standard 7: Classroom Procedures and Physical Environment

- a. Develops and employs classroom procedures that promote student learning and facilitate positive classroom interaction consistent with building and district programs.
- b. Designs a safe and accessible classroom environment for all students.
- c. Facilitates smooth transitions with little loss of instructional time.
- d. Ensures all students have access to materials, technology, and necessary resources.

Standard 8: Managing Student Behavior

- a. Clearly communicates and enforces classroom and school expectations.
- b. Addresses inappropriate behavior consistently and appropriately.
- c. Proactively addresses student behavior.

Domain III: Instruction

Standard 9: Lesson Delivery

- a. Exhibits lesson delivery that is clear, reflects appropriate pacing, and uses a variety of effective teaching strategies.
- b. Activates students' prior knowledge.
- c. Differentiates instruction to meet the needs of diverse learners.
- d. Uses a variety of questioning and discussion techniques that elicit student reflection and higher order thinking.
- e. Uses technology effectively.
- f. Uses a variety of instructional strategies to support and expand learners' communication through speaking, listening, reading, writing.

Standard 10: Feedback to Students

- a. Demonstrates ability to listen to students and responds appropriately.
- b. Provides constructive feedback that facilitates learning and academic growth.
- c. Provides constructive feedback that is consistent, ongoing, timely and in a variety of forms.

Standard 11: Assessment for Learning

- a. Uses assessment data to prepare for individual and group instruction, including re-teaching when necessary.
- b. Uses formative assessment during classroom instruction to facilitate student learning.
- c. Demonstrates the ability to use summative assessments to guide and inform instruction through the collection, maintenance, and analysis of classroom, district, and state assessments.
- d. Engages students in assessing their own learning.

Domain IV: Professional Responsibilities

Standard 12: Professional Growth

- a. Actively participates in professional development opportunities relevant to teaching assignment.
- b. Actively engages in meaningful goal setting.
- c. Pursues professional growth through reflection, self-assessment, learning, and knowledge of best practices.

Standard 13: Record Keeping and Communication

- a. Carries out duties as assigned.
- b. Maintains accurate records according to district and building protocols.
- c. Knows and adheres to district job description and standards of performance including Competent and Ethical Educator Standards.
- d. Maintains appropriate confidentiality.
- e. Communicates effectively and respectfully with all stakeholders: students, parents, colleagues and supervisor.
- f. Facilitates meetings effectively.
- g. Effectively and appropriately collaborates with colleagues and other professionals.

Standard 14: Commitment to Instructional Initiatives

- a. Is aware of, and supports, building and district instructional priorities.
- b. Knows and actively participates in building and district instructional initiatives.

Possible evidence to look for:

- ✓ Deep knowledge of content is communicated in a variety of forms (classroom artifacts, resources made available to students, etc.).
- ✓ Student success on classroom-based assessments.
- ✓ The teacher has a strong command of subject matter and possesses deep content knowledge.
- ✓ The teacher is always learning new things about the content.
- ✓ The teacher has set learning goals for students that can be measured.
- ✓ Year-long, unit, and weekly lesson plans have been developed that include instructional goals and learning outcomes.
- ✓ Lesson and unit objectives are written on the board or posted in the classroom for students to see and understand.
- ✓ Standards, goals and learning objectives are communicated with stakeholders.
- ✓ Teacher practice reflects understanding of topics and concepts and provides a link to prior knowledge.
- ✓ Lesson quality reflects rigorous and important learning in the content material.

Possible evidence to look for:

- ✓ Classroom and student displays promote a climate of learning and respect.
- ✓ Students treat other students, staff, and community in positive and appropriate ways.
- ✓ The teacher promotes a classroom of respect and learning; genuine warmth, caring and sensitivity is shown to students.
- ✓ The teacher demonstrates knowledge of behavior systems and uses them effectively.
- ✓ Students treat equipment, materials, and facilities with respect.
- ✓ Classroom is organized and welcoming.
- ✓ Transitions are smooth and maximize instructional time.
- ✓ The teacher has a clear and articulated system for managing all classroom procedures.
- ✓ Students know, understand, and can explain classroom procedure to others and show initiative in improving their classroom experience.
- ✓ Classroom displays are appropriate and relevant to teaching assignment
- ✓ The teacher is familiar with, and uses, effective behavior strategies to maintain positive behavior in the classroom.
- ✓ Students are well-behaved, treat one another with respect, and follow directions.
- ✓ Classroom expectations are posted, regularly taught, re-taught and reinforced.
- ✓ Students demonstrate awareness of the classroom and school expectations.

- ✓ A variety of strategies, (i.e. technology, cooperative learning, use of art, service learning) are used to deliver instruction.
- ✓ Students are not afraid to make mistakes or ask questions and are willing to take risks in their learning.
- ✓ Students show motivation and initiative in understanding the content of instruction; they can revise, add detail or help peers.
- ✓ The teacher sets high expectations through meaningful feedback and encourages students to meet those high expectations by providing the necessary support.
- ✓ The teacher can produce evidence of systems designed to facilitate frequent, consistent, specific feedback.
- ✓ Teacher designs questions with the purpose of determining student understanding so that they can provide meaningful feedback.
- ✓ Frequency, specificity, and consistency of feedback.
- ✓ The teacher can describe how assessment is used prior to, during, and after instruction.
- ✓ The teacher knows the difference and distinct uses of formative and summative assessments.
- ✓ The teacher maintains detailed assessment data and records of student performance.

- ✓ The teacher has a high value for collaboration and frequently is involved in projects and activities that require collaboration.
- ✓ The teacher has a high value for positive relationships and does not engage in rumors or gossip.
- ✓ The teacher supports building and district instructional priorities through increased knowledge and a change in teaching practices.
- ✓ The teacher is able to inspire others to adopt and support building and district instructional initiatives.
- ✓ The teacher is considered a leader in terms of honesty, integrity and confidentiality.

Performance Levels

Cascade’s Standards of Professional Practice includes four levels of performance: Unsatisfactory, Basic, Proficient, and Distinguished. It is important to recognize that the levels are levels of performance of teaching, not of teachers.

Unsatisfactory

The teacher performing at the Unsatisfactory level does not yet appear to understand the concepts underlying the component. Working on the fundamental practices associated with the elements will enable the teacher to grow and develop in this area. In some areas of practice, performance at the Unsatisfactory level represents teaching that is below the licensing standard of “do no harm.” For example, students are treated with sarcasm or put-downs, the environment is chaotic, or learning is shut down. Therefore, if a supervisor encounters performance at the Unsatisfactory level, it is very likely time to intervene. For a mentor, a component at the Unsatisfactory level represents a first priority for coaching.

Basic

The teacher performing at the Basic level appears to understand the concepts underlying the component and attempts to implement its elements. But implementation is sporadic, intermittent, or otherwise not entirely successful. Additional reading, discussion, visiting classrooms of other teachers, and experience (particularly supported by a mentor) will enable the teacher to become proficient in this area.

Performance at the Basic level is characteristic of student teachers or teachers new to the profession—those for whom virtually everything they do, almost by definition, is being done for the first time. So it is not surprising that not everything goes according to plan. Even when experienced teachers try a new activity, its implementation may be rough or inconsistent (for example it may take longer than planned or not as long, or the directions for the activity may not be clear). In fact, when trying a new activity or when teaching in a new assignment, experienced teachers may perform at the Basic level for the same reason a new teacher might—they are doing something for the first time.

For supervision or evaluation purposes, this level is generally considered minimally competent for teachers early in their careers; improvement is likely to occur with experience, and no actual harm is being done to students. But enhancement of skill is important, and a mentoring or coaching program will ensure that such improvement occurs in a supportive environment.

Proficient

The teacher performing at the Proficient level clearly understands the concepts underlying the component and implements it well. Most experienced, capable teachers will regard themselves and be regarded by others as performing at this level.

Teachers at the Proficient level are experienced, professional educators. They thoroughly know their content, they know their students, they know the curriculum and have a broad repertoire of strategies and activities to use with students, and they can move easily to Plan B if that turns out to be necessary. And they have eyes in the backs of their heads! Many of the routines of teaching have become automatic, and proficient teachers have developed a sophisticated understanding of classroom dynamics and are alert to events that don’t conform to the expected pattern.

Teachers performing at the Proficient level have mastered the work of teaching while working to improve their practice. They can also serve as resources to one another as they participate in a professional community.

Distinguished

Teachers performing at the Distinguished level are master teachers and make a contribution to the field, both in and outside their school. Their classrooms operate at a quantitatively different level from those of other teachers. Such classrooms consist of a community of learners, with students highly motivated and engaged and assuming considerable responsibility for their own learning. All the common themes are manifested, as appropriate, in the classroom of a teacher performing at a Distinguished level.

A classroom functioning at the Distinguished level seems to be running itself; it almost appears that the teacher is not doing anything. It is seamless; the students know what to do and get right to work. When novice teachers observe a class at this level, they typically don't recognize what they are seeing; they can observe the results of what the teacher has created but aren't always aware of how the teacher did it.

Distinguished-level performance is very high performance and, indeed, some teachers (particularly with some groups of students) may never attain it consistently. As some educators have phrased it, "Distinguished-level performance is a good place to visit, but don't expect to live there." The student component is important, because with some groups of students it is a daunting challenge to create a community of learners. It may take all year to make much progress at all. But the Distinguished level remains a goal for all teachers, regardless of how challenging it may be in any particular set of circumstances.

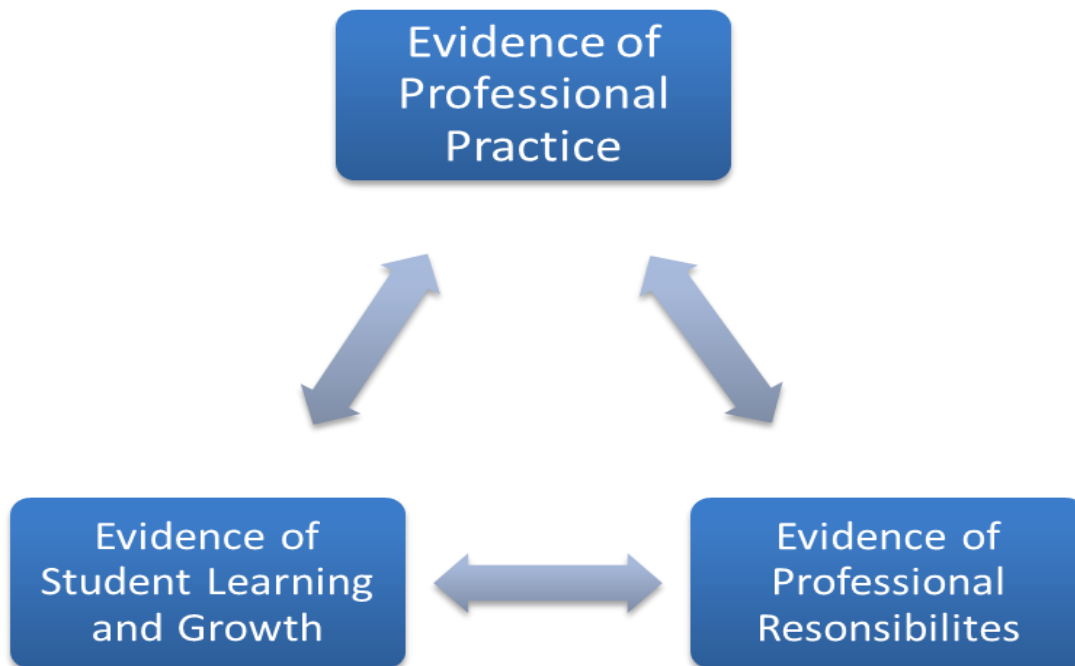

As a summary of the levels of performance, a swimming metaphor is helpful. The teacher at the Unsatisfactory level could be compared to a non-swimmer who has been thrown in deep water and is drowning. The swimmer, who can manage the dog paddle, but nothing else, is similar to the teacher performing at the Basic level; the swimmer can get across the lake but may be swamped if any waves come up. A swimmer with command of a number of different strokes, and the knowledge of when to use which, is similar to a teacher performing at the Proficient level. And a competitive swimmer, who is perfecting her strokes, or a swimmer teacher, would be the equivalent of the teacher performing at the Distinguished level.

Multiple Measures

The multiple measures refer to tools, instruments, protocols, assessments, and processes to collect evidence on performance and assessment. These measures must support each of the following three categories of the Educators' Professional Growth and Evaluation Handbook:

- A. Professional Practice
- B. Professional Responsibilities
- C. Student Learning and Growth

All teachers will be evaluated using at least two measures for each of the three components in combination with one another. Teachers will use evidence from all three areas and components to holistically rate performance.

Cascade's teaching standards has four domains with 14 standards. These standards and the teacher's professional growth goal support the Professional Practice and Professional Responsibilities. The Student Learning and Growth Goals process supports the Student Learning and Growth component.

Professional Practice:

- Domain 1: Planning and Preparation
- Domain 2: Classroom Environment
- Domain 3: Instruction

Evidence will support the quality of the teachers’ planning, delivery of instruction and assessment of student learning. Documentation will include classroom observations, mini observations, and artifacts to include lesson plans, curriculum design, student assignments and student work.

Professional Responsibilities:

- Domain 4: Professional Responsibilities

Evidence will support teacher’s progress toward their professional goals and contribution to school-wide goals. Documentation will include teacher reflections, self-reports, data analysis, professional goal setting, student growth goal setting, records of contribution, peer collaboration, teamwork, parent/teacher surveys, meetings, PLC’s, portfolios, building and district level leadership activities.

Student Learning and Growth:

Teachers will establish at least two student learning and growth goals (SLGs) and identify strategies and measures that will be used to determine goal attainment. Growth goals hold all students to the same standards but allow for various levels of learning and growth depending on how students are performing at the start of the course/class.

For those teachers who provide instruction in academic content areas, at least one of the two goals set must reflect the standards of the content area they teach.

For those teachers who do not provide instruction in academic content areas goals should reflect the standards to which they instruct.

Professional Growth and Evaluation Cycle

The Teacher Professional Growth and Evaluation Handbook has a cycle of continuous professional development to support effective instruction that will impact student success. The cycle allows for continued review and feedback as the teacher and evaluator plan for opportunities for feedback and meaningful conversations. This Professional Growth and Evaluation Cycle supports professional growth and learning.

Self-Assessment/Reflection: Framework and student data will be reviewed and prioritized. The teacher will assess the areas of strength and areas for professional growth. The teacher will also analyze student data to prepare for the Student Learning and Growth goals. The standards rubric will be used for the assessment.

Goal Setting:

Based on the self-reflection and assessment of student data, the teacher will write two Student Learning and Growth (SLG) goals and one Professional Practice and Professional Responsibilities goal. The goals form will be used.

Observation/Collection of Artifacts:

The teacher will collect evidence to support the three components: Professional Practice, Professional Responsibilities, and Student Learning.

Formative Assessment/Mid-Year Review:

The evaluator and teacher review the teacher's progress toward the student learning and professional growth goals and performance against the standards. This will include the review of evidence, professional conversations and professional growth. This review promotes awareness of growth and additional professional growth needs. The teacher will have the opportunity to make adjustments in the instructional practices and additional professional learning opportunities. The goals form will be used.

Observation/Collection of Artifacts:

Following the Formative Assessment/Mid-Year review, the teacher and evaluator will collect evidence to support the three components: Professional Practice, Professional Responsibilities, and Student Learning.

Summative Evaluation:

The Summative Evaluation (annual for probationary teachers and every two years for contract teachers) is the culminating meeting with the multiple examples of evidence for all areas. The evaluator will assess the teacher's performance against the standards of Professional Practice and Professional Responsibilities, attainment of student learning and growth goals and professional growth goal. The summative evaluation form and the goals form will be used.

Professional Development:

This district believes that an effective evaluation process is more meaningful when professional development continually supports improved practice resulting in high student achievement. To that end, linking evaluations with high quality professional learning is key. Aligned evaluation systems inform educators of strengths and weaknesses and provide opportunities to make informed decisions regarding individual professional growth needs. High quality professional learning is sustained, focused and relevant to the educator's goals and needs. All educators shall have opportunities for professional growth not only those whose evaluation ratings do not meet standards.

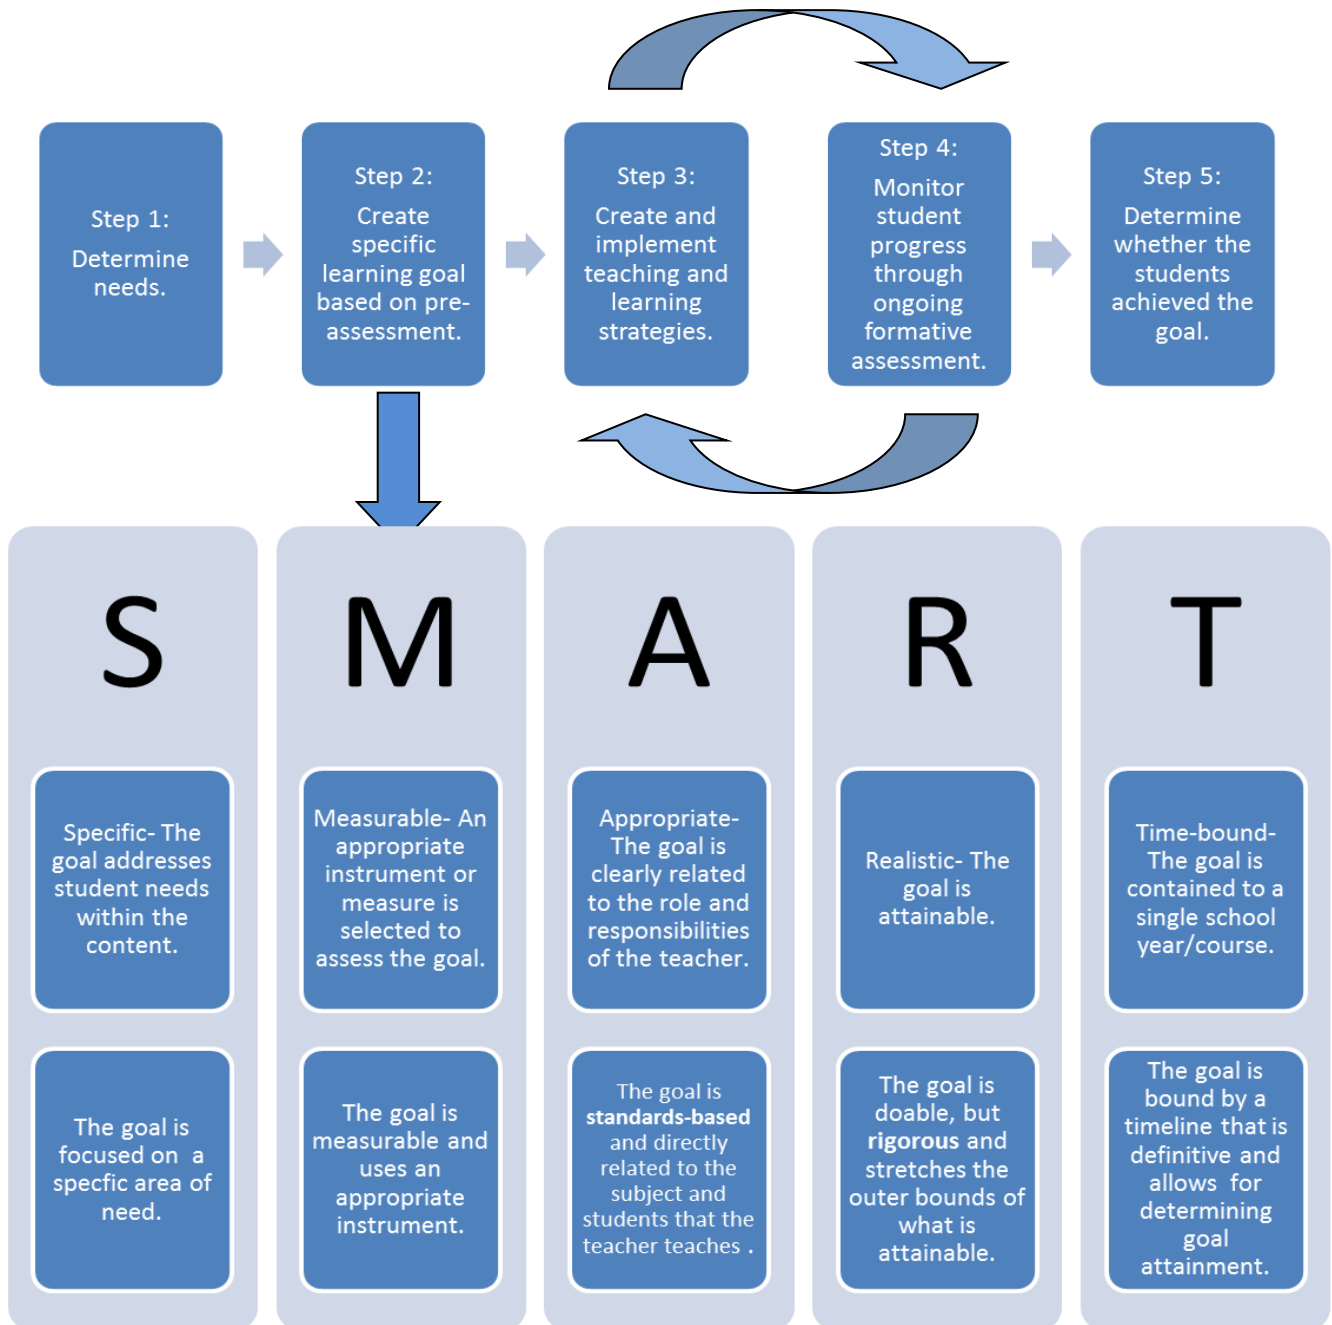

The TalentEd Perform system allows the district to extract evaluation data to inform professional development needs among educators. An annual review of this data by the district level leadership team will allow us to focus professional development efforts.

Student Learning and Growth Goals (SLGs)

Goal Setting Process:

Setting SLG goals is a collaborative process in which teachers and evaluators enter into a conversation to create a rigorous, yet realistic goal that examines the educator’s impact on student learning and growth. The following diagram illustrates the process for developing these SMART goals.

Step-By-Step SMART Goal Process

SLG Goal Quality Review

Once a teacher creates a SLG goal the following checklist should be used in order to approve the goal. For an SLG goal to be approved, all criteria must be met.

Baseline Data	Yes	No
Is baseline data used to make data-drive decisions for the SLG goal, including the most recent student information from past assessments and/or pre-assessment results?
Student Learning and Growth Goal
Is the SLG goal written as a “growth” goal versus “achievement” goal? (i.e. growth goals measure student learning between two or more points in time and achievement goals measure student learning at only one point in time.)
Does the SLG goal describe a “target” or expected growth for all students, tiered or differentiated as needed based on baseline data?
Rigor of Goal
Does the goal address relevant and specific knowledge and skills aligned to the course curriculum based on state or national content standards?
Is the SLG goal measurable and challenging, yet attainable?

Once SLG goals are approved, educators start collecting the information needed to measure student progress as defined in the SLG goal. The collection and analysis of data continues throughout the course or school year to monitor student progress towards goals. The teacher is responsible for collecting and organizing documentation, including the approved SLG goals and evidence of progress defined within it, in a way that is easy for them to reference and for the evaluators to review. At the end of the course or school year, teachers meet with their evaluator to review results.

Examples of SMART Student and Learning Growth goals are available on the district’s website, under Human Resources Department, Teacher Evaluation*

Collection of Evidence/Artifacts

Artifacts are indicators of a teacher's professional practice. They are not intended to be a portfolio of completed work. They are meant to support a teacher's evaluation process and the progress toward his/her goals. Artifacts are not put into the personnel file. They are for dialogue purposes only. Evaluators should be cognizant of practices/artifacts in a teacher's classroom. Teachers may choose to make artifacts available to his/her evaluator in order to support the demonstration of the teaching and learning that is observed in the classroom.

The artifacts listed below are intended as examples:

- Classroom Observations
- Teacher self-assessment (must be done through TalentEd Perform)
- Teacher reflection (must be done through TalentEd Perform)
- Planning documents – individual lesson plans and unit plans
- Samples of student work or other evidence of student learning
- Samples of assessments
- PLC team notes
- Parent and community communications (ex. newsletters, logs of parent contacts)
- Logs of professional development activities
- Teaching artifacts (ex. classroom management plan, cooperative group activities, individual student schedules,

Observation Expectations

MINI-OBSERVATIONS

Mini-observations will take place throughout the school year for ALL teachers. These observations will be approximately 10 minutes in length and will take place at different times of the day. They may occur by the supervisor dropping in as well as by teacher invitation.

Feedback will be given to the teacher after each mini-observation and will be given in written form using a variety of tools. In addition, there will be a minimum of at least three (3) face-to-face opportunities for feedback in the year.

Mini-observations can occur during any phase of the teacher's duties – in the classroom; while supervising students in the hallway or playground; in meetings with parents or staff, etc.

A minimum of one (1) mini-observation is required for probationary teachers and a minimum of three (3) mini-observations is required for contract teachers by February 15th, with a total minimum of five(5) required by May 15th.

FORMAL OBSERVATIONS

All probationary teachers will have at least 2 formal observations in addition to the mini-observations during their first three years. Contract teachers may be formally observed at the discretion of the building administrator.

I. Pre-Conference*

The supervisor and teacher meet to discuss items of mutual interest concerning the observation. The data collection to be used during the observation will be identified and mutually understood by the supervisor and teacher.

* May be waived by mutual consent of teacher and supervisor.

II. Observation

During the classroom observation, the supervisor will collect specific data based on the following 3 Domains and 11 Standards where applicable .

I. Planning and Preparation

1. Knowledge of Content
2. Knowledge of Students
3. Instructional Goal Setting
4. Lesson Design
5. Assessment Planning

II. Classroom Environment

6. Climate of Respect and Learning
7. Classroom Procedures and Physical Environment
8. Managing Student Behavior

III. Instruction

9. Lesson Delivery
10. Feedback to Students
11. Assessment for Learning

The length of observation will be no less than a cohesive portion of an instructional period or meeting.

III. Reflection Sheet

This format is intended to be available to use and be completed by the teacher being observed. The post-observation conference will focus on the data collected by the administrator and the input from the teacher regarding the items on the Reflection Sheet.

IV. Reflection Conference

As soon as is practical after the observation, a conference will be scheduled. The supervisor and teacher will discuss the data. From this evidence, areas of reinforcement and /or improvement could be established. The date and time of the next observation may be set. A written observation report will be completed.

V. Frequency

1st year teachers – 2 by February 15th
2nd and 3rd year teachers – 2 by February 15th

Calculating the Final Summative Rating

The Summative Rating is determined by averaging the ratings from each of the four (4) professional practice and professional responsibilities domains with each rating receiving the following point values: Unsatisfactory (1); Basic (2); Proficient (3); and Distinguished (4).

Scores will be totaled and averaged to reflect the following summative ratings:

3.6 - 4.0 = 4 Distinguished

2.81-3.59 =3 Proficient

1.99-2.8 = 2 Basic

<1.99 = 1 Unsatisfactory

Student Learning & Growth: Although included in the evaluation, the results of student learning and growth will not be factored into the final summative evaluation.

Summative Performance Levels and Professional Growth Paths

Based on the final summative rating, the four types of Professional Growth Paths (1-4) are defined as follows:

Performance Levels	Definitions of Performance as Applied to Standards of Professional Practice	Implications for Professional Growth
Distinguished (4)	Consistently exceeds expectations for good performance under this standard; demonstrates highly effective practices and impact on student learning; continued expansion of expertise through professional learning and leadership opportunities	Teacher Leadership Opportunities
Proficient (3)	Consistently meets expectations for good performance under this standard; demonstrates effective practices and impact on student learning; continues to improve professional practice through ongoing professional learning	Teacher Leadership Opportunities
Basic (2)	Making sufficient progress toward meeting this standard; meets expectations for good performance most of the time and shows continuous improvement; expected improvement through focused professional learning and growth plan	Targeted Goal Setting
Unsatisfactory (1)	Does not meet standards; performs below the expectations for good performance under this standard; requires direct intervention and support to improve practice	Program of Assistance for Improvement (POA)

4-Distinguished Growth Path - The educator leads the conversation and chooses the focus of the professional goal(s) as the educator and evaluator collaborate on the professional growth goal(s). If the educator had a SLG performance of Basic (level 2), the professional goal(s) should also include a focus on increasing the educator's overall aptitude in this measure.

3-Proficient Growth Path - The educator and evaluator collaboratively develop the educator's professional goal(s). The educator and evaluator have an equal voice in developing the professional goal(s). If the educator was Unsatisfactory (level 1) or Basic (level 2) in SLG performance, the professional goal(s) should also include a focus on increasing the educator's overall aptitude in this measure.

2-Basic Growth Path - The evaluator consults with the educator and uses the information gathered to inform the educator's professional goal(s). This path is more evaluator directed but does take into consideration the voice of the educator in developing the professional goal(s). If the educator was UNSATISFACTORY (level 1) or BASIC (level 2) in SLG performance, the professional goal(s) should also include a focus on increasing the educator's overall aptitude in this measure.

1-Unsatisfactory Growth Path - The evaluator directs the educator's professional goal(s). This path typically includes a program of assistance process and should involve a focus on the most important area(s) to improve educator performance. If the educator was UNSATISFACTORY (level 1) or BASIC (level 2) in SLG performance, the professional goal(s) should also include a focus on increasing the educator's overall aptitude in this measure.

Program of Assistance for Improvement

Occasionally a teacher will need additional support to be successful in the classroom. When one or more areas of concern are identified by the administrator and/or the educator receives a summative performance level of Unsatisfactory (level 1) or Basic (level 2), the following steps may be taken.

The Program of Assistance for Improvement is a formal process of supervision designed to focus on improvement needed because of performance below district standard(s) in one or more areas.

The conference between the staff member and the supervisor will be scheduled to discuss the Program of Assistance for Improvement, which is to include:

1. A description of the deficiency(ies) which need(s) to be changed (in a teacher's conduct or performance), citing specific criterion of the job description and performance standards.
2. A description of the supervisor's expectations of how the teacher is to remedy the deficiency.
3. Assistance for achieving the desired expectation to meet the desired level of performance including criteria for measurement, assessment techniques and resources to be used.
4. Peer assistance will be used where reasonable and practicable. The district supports the utilization of peer assistance whenever practicable and reasonable to aid teachers to better meet the needs of students. Peer assistance is voluntary and thereby no witness or document related to the peer assistance or the record of peer assistance shall be admissible in any proceeding that may occur as a result of the Program of Assistance for Improvement.
5. The date by which the plan must be completed.

During the Program of Assistance for Improvement, follow-up observations will occur within a specified time. Unless the plan has been revised and the observation schedule altered, the staff member will, when the specified time for completion is reached, be notified that one of three actions will be taken:

1. Return to the regular evaluation program because of satisfactory improvement.
2. Continuation and extension of current Program of Assistance for Improvement.
3. Continued recommendation for contract non-extension
4. Dismissal or non-renewal

Learning Communities: The Cascade School District (CSD) is committed to maintaining Professional Learning Communities (PLC). Our Professional Learning Communities apply cycles of continuous improvement including: creation of common assessments, analysis of data to determine student and educator learning needs, review and implementation of evidence based strategies.
Leadership: CSD will provide leadership roles and responsibilities for teachers with an overall rating of proficient or exemplary. These roles may include, but are not limited to: PLC leaders, teacher mentors, book study leaders, professional development facilitators and data-driven decision making teams who support district initiatives. These leaders will in collaboration with all levels of the CSD administrative team to develop capacity, advocate and create support systems for professional development.
Resources: Professional development increases educator effectiveness through human, fiscal, material, technology, and time resources to achieve student growth goals. Resource allocation is decided through student and educator learning needs to achieve intended outcomes of written goals. CSD is committed to prioritizing the resources to increase educator effectiveness. Resources in CSD include: after-school meetings, Professional Learning Communities, tuition reimbursement, mentoring, job imbedded prep times and technology resources, such as online student grading. evaluation. CSD uses recommendations from leadership stakeholders to examine, adjust, or change coordinated resources that affect professional development.
Data: Evaluation data and results from common assessments collected throughout the year will be used to assess student growth goal progress. Multiple measures will be used to evaluate a teacher’s professional practice, professional responsibility and impact on student growth. Professional needs should have links to current student data as well as the results of the previous year’s evaluation deficits. Teachers will reflect upon this data when completing their self-assessment at the beginning and end of the school year. Data about students, educators and systems will be used in CSD to drive plans for professional development. The areas of greatest deficit will be identified and used to create a district-wide professional development plan for the following year. Data will be collected on the effectiveness of professional development opportunities through internal and external evaluations and links to increased educator effectiveness and raised student achievement.

Learning Designs: Integrating theories, research, and human learning models into planning and design will increase effectiveness of professional development.

CSD uses many different types of frameworks to design and facilitate the learning needs of students. These include Sheltered Instruction Observation Protocol (SIOP), modeling, formative & summative assessments, common assessments, data analysis, book studies, learning walks, use of technology, student learning objectives, and outcome and project based learning.

CSD educators take active roles to choose and construct appropriate learning designs that will maximize learning and achieve the intended student outcomes. Educators will have ongoing practice, reflections, assessment, and feedback from peers and administration.

Implementation: Educator effectiveness improves student learning if changes in professional development are implemented and support is sustained over a long period of time. CSD is committed to supporting embedded professional development. Administration has access to a variety of formative observation tools that are linked directly to aligned professional development. Teachers may request to be observed using a specific tool or administrators may initiate use of a tool based on a teacher's evaluation. CSD continues to support professional development that is relevant to district initiatives. This adheres to a commitment of long-term change, deeper understanding and expectations for implementation with fidelity. Professional Learning Communities provide time and sharing of resources for: planning lessons with new strategies, sharing experiences about implementation, analyzing student work, reflecting on outcomes and assessing progress towards student growth goals and professional development needs.

Outcomes: Professional growth plans are based first and foremost on needs and outcomes linked directly to student growth goals. Professional development will include differentiated instructional practices to support teachers in defining equitable outcomes in order for all students to achieve. Standards in the CSD evaluation handbook require teachers to have a clear understanding of CCSS (Common Core State Standards) for student learning. Professional growth plans and support systems will be focused on a clear understanding and application of such learning standards.

- In teaching students with both articulation and language disorders the SLP works on skills from each disorder area within a session.
- SLP plans lessons that demonstrate knowledge of common core state standards and classroom expectations.

Establishing goals for the therapy program appropriate to the setting and the students served

- SLP maintains a student information sheet in his/her logbook for each student containing information regarding special needs, medical issues, language proficiency, and culture.
- SLP plans a lesson containing visual supports (i. e., picture communication board, picture schedule, work system, etc.) to promote communication in students diagnosed with autism spectrum disorders (ASDs).

Demonstrating knowledge of district, state, and federal regulations and guidelines

- SLP uses assessment information and considers the corresponding grade-level academic standards when developing IEP goals.
- The SLP sets instructional outcomes for the student in the area of stuttering based on the types of stuttered words or parts of words.
- SLP has a plan for gathering data across school settings for students as students generalize skills from therapy to the classroom.

Demonstrating knowledge of resources, both within and beyond the school and district

- SLP independently conducts research regarding the use of augmentative/alternative communication with students diagnosed with autism spectrum disorders to expand his/her knowledge in this area.
- SLP shares effective strategies to address stuttering in the regular education classroom/general education curriculum with colleagues.

Planning the therapy program, integrated with the regular school program, to meet the needs of individual students

- SLP allots an appropriate amount of time to address all components of the speech/language lesson plan (i.e., introduction, opportunity for guided and independent practice of established speech/language support goals, and closure).
- SLP creates instructional plans that are instructionally sound, based on the diagnosed speech and language problem, and allow the student to make progress.
- SLP selects appropriate instructional setting (i.e. push in pull out, or combination) to allow student to make progress.

Developing a plan to evaluate the therapy program

- SLP consistently collects assessment data from a variety of sources, including progress monitoring data, teacher input, parent input, diagnostic assessments, and classroom-based assessments.
- SLP consistently reviews student data and adjusts plans for instruction accordingly.

Domain II for Speech Language Pathologists: Environment

	LEVEL OF PERFORMANCE
	UNSATISFACTORY	BASIC	PROFICIENT	DISTINGUISHED
Standard 7: Establishing rapport with students	SLP's interactions with students are negative or inappropriate; students appear uncomfortable in the testing and instructional settings. SLP is insensitive to students' ages, cultural backgrounds, and developmental levels.	SLP's interactions are a mix of positive and negative; the SLP's efforts at developing rapport are partially successful. Students appear to be moderately comfortable in the instructional setting.	SLP's interactions with students are positive and respectful; students appear comfortable in the testing and instructional settings. Interactions also reflect genuine caring and empathy for the needs of the students.	Students seek out the SLP, reflecting a high degree of comfort and trust in the relationship. Interactions between SLP and the students are positive, respectful, and incorporate individual needs as appropriate. Students demonstrate behavior aligned with the expectations that have been established within the instructional setting. Students cooperate during expected tasks and/or implement acquired skills.
Standard 8: Organizing time effectively	SLP exercises poor judgment in setting priorities, resulting in confusion, missed deadlines, and conflicting schedules. Much time is lost during transitions.	SLP's time-management skills are moderately well developed; essential activities are carried out, but not always in the most efficient manner. Transitions are sporadically efficient, resulting in some loss of instructional time.	SLP exercises good judgment in setting priorities, resulting in clear schedules and important work being accomplished in an efficient manner. Transitions occur smoothly, with little loss of instructional time.	SLP demonstrates excellent time management skills, accomplishing all tasks in a seamless manner; teachers and students understand their schedules. Transitions are seamless, students assuming some responsibility for efficient operation.
Standard 9: Establishing and maintaining clear procedures for referrals	No procedures for referrals have been established; when teachers want to refer a student for special services, they are not sure how to go about it.	SLP has established procedures for referrals, but the details are not always clear.	Procedures for referrals and for meetings and consultations with parents and administrators are clear to everyone.	Procedures for all aspects of referral and testing protocols are clear to everyone and have been developed in consultation with teachers and administrators.
Standard 10: Manages student behavior	No standards of conduct have been established, and SLP disregards or fails to address negative student behavior during evaluation or treatment.	Standards of conduct appear to have been established for the testing and instructional settings. SLP's attempts to monitor and correct negative student behavior during evaluation and treatment are partially successful.	Standards of conduct have been established for the testing and instructional settings. SLP monitors student behavior against those standards; response to students is appropriate and respectful.	Standards of conduct have been established for the testing and instructional settings. SLP's monitoring of students is subtle and preventive, and students engage in self-monitoring of behavior. SLP respects the students' dignity and is sensitive to students' individual needs.
Standard 11: Organizing physical space for testing of students and providing therapy	The testing and instructional setting is disorganized and poorly suited to working with students. No attempt is made to modify available space or to find alternative space. Materials are rarely available and/or inappropriate for the student's level.	The testing and instructional setting is moderately well organized and moderately well suited to working with students. SLP makes some attempt to modify available space or to find alternative space. Materials are sometimes available.	The testing and instructional setting is well organized; SLP adapts or modifies the available space to meet the need of the students or finds an alternative space. Materials are available when needed.	The testing and instructional setting is highly organized and is inviting to students. SLP effectively adapts/modifies the available space to meet the needs of students or find alternative space. Materials are convenient when needed.

Domain II: Environment

What it might look like:

Establishing rapport with students

- SLP demonstrates and discusses, and involves students in modeling how to be polite, how to take turns, how to show encouragement and respect to one another, and other active listening strategies.
- Students routinely can identify or explain their individual speech and language goals, when given simple prompts or questions.

Organizing time effectively

- Students routinely can identify or explain their individual speech and language goals, when given simple prompts or questions.
- The SLP teaches and consistently reinforces that having a speech and/or language problem is different for each student and that we respect each other's correct and incorrect responses in the group. SLP routinely provides individualized models of correct speech production, and elicits self-corrections from students; they discuss and practice direct connections of improved speech and language with classroom curriculum and practical or vocational situations with teacher direction. Based on educational background and experience regarding a student's ability, the SLP has consistent expectations for progress.

Establishing and maintaining clear procedures for referrals

- SLP has materials organized and ready for use as group arrives. Students engage in routine or practice activities while waiting for SLP or another student to complete a task.
- SLP rarely has to reinstruct during the session regarding routines due to consistent implementation of instinct rules and procedures for the operation of the therapy sessions; classroom rules and expectations (visuals of a positive nature such as posters, lists) are posted for student reference.

Managing student behavior

- The SLP implements specific procedures for when students go off task or are reluctant to do work. SLP follows the behavior management system in the school(s) serviced, and reinforces the system by reminding students and referring to the procedures in a positive manner ("You sat nicely and waited your turn.").
- SLP and students are consistent with use of universal health precautions, such as use of tissues, and sanitizers, etc., since items are placed where students can easily reach them.

Organizing physical space for testing of students and providing therapy

- SLP has established and consistently enforces rules for transitioning in and out of therapy room, and SLP has addressed any potential safety hazards or equipment arrangement needs. SLP and students know and practice evacuation procedures (in case of fire, bomb scare...) and these procedures are clearly posted in room.
- SLP has organized the physical space so that furniture arrangement facilitates group interactions; there are no physical barriers to instruction. SLP has addressed any concerns and has appropriate solutions in place which students use as directed.

Domain III for Speech Language Pathologists: Delivery of Service

	LEVEL OF PERFORMANCE
	UNSATISFACTORY	BASIC	PROFICIENT	DISTINGUISHED
Standard 12: Communicating with students	Students are not aware of the skill they are working on; language used is not appropriate for age of students or cognitive ability (no attempts made to clarify instruction)	SLP may clarify the task when questions are asked by restating directions in the same manner. SLP may tell students they are working on categorization without explaining what categorization is to the students.	SLP uses multiple modalities to demonstrate tasks and explain relevant vocabulary (uses visuals along with verbal explanations to explain task); SLP clearly states skill that will be worked on during the session (“Today you are working on...”)	SLP asks a student to explain a task to a peer; SLP uses a variety of modalities when demonstrating/ explaining tasks (SLP uses category cards with picture representation, paired with SLP verbal explanation and the physical demonstration of matching the cards into categories)
Standard 13: Questioning and discussion techniques	SLP does not engage all students (some children appear to be off task); SLP only asks multiple choice questions or “what” questions	SLP does ask a range of questions but relies on lower level question (uses only concrete examples, no abstract, higher level thinking); SLP facilitates some peer interaction through discussion but does not allow students to develop their own questions for each other	SLP engages most students by asking a variety of questions and allows students to develop their own questions (SLP uses who, what, where, when and why openended questions to elicit higher level thinking); SLP involves all students in discussions and uses prompting strategies to encourage all students to participate (SLP says, “think of a question to ask...”).	Students initiate spontaneous extension of target skills through conversation; Adjustments in complexity are made as the students demonstrate success. SLP structures lessons and language usage to meet the students’ needs.
Standard 14: Engaging students in learning	Rarely uses a variety of intervention strategies which provide regular opportunities for student to engage in the learning necessary to achieve goals and objectives.	Inconsistently uses a variety of intervention strategies which provide regular opportunities for student to engage in the learning necessary to achieve goals and objectives.	Uses a variety of intervention strategies which provide regular opportunities for student to engage in the learning necessary to achieve goals and objectives. Shares strategies with classroom staff and support specialists for generalization of language and speech skills.	Collaborates with instructional staff to integrate the use of strategies throughout educational environments which allow students to generalize language and speech skills and to achieve goals and objectives.
Standard 15: Using assessment in instruction	SLP administers the same test regardless of the reason for referral (e.g. uses articulation assessment tool to assess language); SLP makes little or no effort to assess if students understand the skills being taught or modeled for them (little to none)	SLP provides inappropriate feedback on standardized assessments. (SLP often says “good job”); Students are aware they are being assessed within the session but not aware of their progress with skills	Clear evidence that a variety of assessments are used regularly with systematic monitoring of progress (oral responses, written responses, teacher observation, self-assessment); SLP provides examples of expected responses and uses other students to model accurate responses	SLP often asks students to evaluate themselves or peers within the session and allows for peer feedback (peers assess sound productions of peer and offer suggestions to remediate); SLP consistently and effectively assists students in setting rigorous goals, self-assessing, monitoring and taking responsibility for their progress (promotes self-monitoring skills and carryover of skills into academic setting)

Standard 16: Demonstrating flexibility and responsiveness	SLP adheres to the plan or goals, in spite of evidence of its inadequacy. SLP does not plan for transitions or provide closure between lesson/activities (jumps from one activity to another without explanation);	SLP makes modest changes in the student’s plan when confronted with evidence of the need for change. SLP is aware of student confusion but makes no attempts to clarify (SLP is aware students do not understand placement cues for sound production but does not clarify);	SLP makes revisions in the student’s plan when they are needed. SLP provides answers to students’ information seeking questions in an appropriate manner and time and answers the question;	SLP is continually seeking ways to improve the student’s plan and makes changes as needed in response to student, parent, or teacher input. SLP incorporates school and community events into therapy session (pragmatic lesson relating to upcoming dance-appropriate behavior, assembly-vocabulary, appropriate behavior);

Domain 3: Instruction

What it might look like:

Communicating with students

- SLP uses multiple modalities to demonstrate tasks and explain relevant vocabulary (uses visuals along with verbal explanation to explain task)
- SLP clearly states skill that will be worked on during the session (“Today you are working on...”)

Questioning and discussion techniques • Student initiate spontaneous extension of target skills through conversation

- Adjustments in complexity are made as the students demonstrate success. SLP structures lessons and language usage to meet the students’ needs.
- Language utilized in sessions supports the academic vocabulary of the classroom.

Engaging students in learning

- Students are prompted to suggest learning ideas for different modifications to teach different skills (students are involved in creating their own learning tasks)
- Students are given ample opportunity to practice and receive immediate corrective feedback

Using assessment in instruction

- Clear evidence that a variety of assessments are used regularly with systematic monitoring of progress (oral responses, written responses, teacher observation, self-assessment)
- SLP provides examples of expected responses and uses other students to model accurate responses
- SLPs cannot provide specific feedback on standardized assessments, they can however, praise effort and persistence.

Demonstrating flexibility and responsiveness

- SLP says, “That’s an interesting idea; let’s see how it fits.” (in response to language activity)
- SLP provides answers to students’ information seeking questions in an appropriate manner and time and fully answers the question

Domain IV for Speech Language Pathologists: Professional Responsibilities

	LEVEL OF PERFORMANCE
	UNSATISFACTORY	BASIC	PROFICIENT	DISTINGUISHED
Standard 17: Reflecting on practice	SLP does not reflect on practice, or the reflections are inaccurate or self-serving.	SLP's reflection on practice is moderately accurate and objective without citing specific examples, and with only global suggestions as to how it might be improved.	SLP's reflection provides an accurate and objective description of practice, citing specific positive and negative characteristics. SLP makes some specific suggestions as to how the therapy program might be improved.	SLP's reflection is highly accurate and perceptive, citing specific examples that were not fully successful for at least some students. SLP draws on an extensive repertoire to suggest alternative strategies.
Standard 18: Maintains accurate records and an effective data-management system	SLP does not abide by mandated timelines (such as overdue IEPs); No evidence of data collection from lessons; does not complete progress reports as indicated in IEP. SLP's data-management system is either nonexistent or in disarray; it cannot be used to monitor student progress or to adjust treatment when needed.	SLP abides by mandated timelines. Minimal data collection is evident. Progress reports are completed on time but lack specificity on student progress toward goals. SLP has developed a rudimentary data-management system for monitoring student progress and occasionally uses it to adjust treatment when needed.	SLP meets all timelines. Consistent data collection is evident for progress monitoring. Progress reports include specific student data toward annual goals. SLP has developed an effective data-management system for monitoring student progress and uses it to adjust treatment when needed.	SLP develops and shares with colleagues protocols that assist with organizing and maintaining data collection. Students contribute to collection of data as appropriate to their abilities. SLP has developed a highly effective data-management system for monitoring student progress and uses it to adjust treatment when needed. SLP uses the system to communicate with teachers and parents.
Standard 19: Collecting information; writing reports	SLP neglects to collect important information on which to base student goals; reports are inaccurate or not appropriate to the audience.	SLP collects most of the important information on which to base student goals; reports are accurate but lacking in clarity and not always appropriate to the audience.	SLP collects all the important information on which to base student goals; reports are accurate and appropriate to the audience	SLP is proactive in collecting important information, interviewing teachers and parents if necessary; reports are accurate and clearly written and are tailored for the audience.
Standard 20: Communicating with families	SLP fails to communicate with families and secure necessary permission for evaluations or communicates in an insensitive manner.	SLP's communication with families is partially successful; permissions are obtained, but there are occasional insensitivities to cultural and linguistic traditions.	SLP communicates with families and secures necessary permission for evaluations, doing so in a manner sensitive to cultural and linguistic traditions.	SLP secures necessary permissions and communicates with families in a manner highly sensitive to cultural and linguistic traditions. SLP reaches out to families of students to enhance trust.
Standard 21: Participating in a professional community, including collaborating with teachers and administrators	SLP's relationships with colleagues are negative or self-serving, and SLP avoids being involved in school and district events and projects. SLP is not available to staff for questions and planning and declines to provide background material when requested.	SLP's relationships with colleagues are cordial, and SLP participates in school and district events and projects when specifically asked to do so. SLP is available to staff for questions and planning and provides background material when requested.	SLP participates actively in school and district events and projects and maintains positive and productive relationships with colleagues. SLP initiates contact with teachers and administrators to confer regarding individual cases.	SLP makes a substantial contribution to school and district events and projects and assumes a leadership role with colleagues. SLP seeks out teachers and administrators to confer regarding cases, soliciting their perspectives on individual students.

Standard 22: Growing and developing professionally	SLP does not participate in professional development activities, even when such activities are clearly needed for the development of skills.	SLP's participation in professional development activities is limited to those that are convenient or are required.	SLP seeks out opportunities for professional development based on an individual assessment of need.	SLP actively pursues professional development opportunities and makes a substantial contribution to the profession through such activities as offering workshops to colleagues.
Standard 23: Showing professionalism, including integrity, advocacy, and maintaining confidentiality	SLP displays dishonesty in interactions with colleagues, students, and the public and violates principles of confidentiality.	SLP is honest in interactions with colleagues, students, and the public, plays a moderate advocacy role for students, and does not violate norms of confidentiality.	SLP displays high standards of honesty, integrity, and confidentiality in interactions with colleagues, students, and the public and advocates for students when needed.	SLP can be counted on to hold the highest standards of honesty, integrity, and confidentiality and to advocate for students, taking a leadership role with colleagues.

Domain IV: Professional Responsibilities

What it might look like:

Reflecting on practice

- SLP consistently assesses the lesson's effectiveness, & degree to which outcomes are met & can cite evidence to support the judgment.
- SLP offers specific suggestions for lesson improvement.

Maintaining accurate records and an effective data-management system

- SLP meets all timelines.
- Consistent data collection is evident for progress monitoring.
- Progress reports include specific student data toward annual goals

Communicating with families

- SLP consistently initiates responses to families to inform the parent/guardian about the student and the instructional program.
- SLP contacts are consistently culturally appropriate.

Participating in professional learning community, including collaborating with teachers and administrators

- SLP is open in sharing expertise and materials with colleagues.
- SLP volunteers for professional community opportunities and actively participates in the content, discussion and outcomes determined.
- SLP works collaboratively with classroom teacher to utilize concepts, vocabulary and language of the classroom and support generalization for skills learned in therapy across school settings.

Growing and developing professionally

- SLP actively seeks trainings reflective of current caseload needs and/or school district needs to meet the needs of the students.
- Actively uses feedback to develop skills and improve own practice.

Showing professionalism, including integrity, advocacy, and maintaining confidentiality

- SLP demonstrates professional behaviors at all times.
- Confidentiality is maintained.

Summative Evaluation Form

Due by June 1

Teacher Name: _____ Probationary: Year _____ Contract

Supervisor: _____ School: _____ Assignment _____

Performance Levels	Definitions of Performance as Applied to Standards of Professional Practice
Unsatisfactory	Does not meet standards; performs below the expectations for good performance under this standard; requires direct intervention and support to improve practice
Basic	Making sufficient progress toward meeting this standard; meets expectations for good performance most of the time and shows continuous improvement; expected improvement through focused professional learning and growth plan
Proficient	Consistently meets expectations for good performance under this standard; demonstrates effective practices and impact on student learning; continues to improve professional practice through ongoing professional learning
Distinguished	Consistently exceeds expectations for good performance under this standard; demonstrates highly effective practices and impact on student learning; continued expansion of expertise through professional learning and leadership opportunities
Summative Rating	The Summative Rating is determined by compiling the ratings from each of the four (4) domains with each rating receiving the following point values: Unsatisfactory (1); Basic (2); Proficient (3); and Distinguished (4). Scores will be totaled and averaged to reflect the following summative ratings: <1.99 = Unsatisfactory 1.99-2.8 = Basic 2.81-3.59 = Proficient 3.6-4.0 = Distinguished

Student Growth Goal Checklist

This checklist is provided as a resource to teachers and administrators in the writing and evaluation of Student Growth Goals (SGG).

Baseline and Trend Data	Student Population	Interval of Instruction	Standards and Content	Assessments(s)	Growth Target(s)	Rationale for Growth Target(s)
What information is being used to inform the creation of the SGG and establish the amount of growth that should take place within the time period?	Which Students will be included in the SGG? Include course, grade level and number of students.	What is the duration of the course that the SGG will cover? Include beginning and end dates.	What content will be the SGG target? To what related standards is the SGG aligned?	What assessment(s) will be used to measure student growth for the SGG?	Considering all available data and content requirements, what growth target(s) can students be expected to reach?	What is your rationale for setting the target(s) for student growth within the interval of instruction?
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ○ Identifies sources of information about students (e.g. test scores from prior years, results of pre-assessments) ○ Draws upon trend data, if available ○ Summarizes the teacher’s analysis of the baseline data by identifying student strengths and weaknesses 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ○ Identifies the class or subgroup of students covered by the SGG ○ Describes the student population and considers any contextual factors that may impact student growth (demographic, life event, etc.) ○ If subgroups are excluded, explains which students, why they are excluded and if they are covered in another SGG 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ○ Matches the length of the course (e.g. quarter, semester, year) ○ Reflects students who receive at least 85% of the teacher’s instruction for that course 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ○ Specifies how the SGG will address applicable Common Core State Standards ○ Represents the big ideas or domains of the content taught during the interval of instruction ○ Identifies core knowledge and skills students are expected to attain as required by the applicable standards 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ○ Identifies assessments that have been reviewed by content experts to effectively measure course content and reliably measure student learning as intended ○ Selects measures with sufficient “stretch” so that all students may demonstrate learning, or identifies supplemental assessments to cover all ability levels in the course ○ Provides a plan for combining assessments if multiple summative assessments are used 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ○ Uses baseline or pretest data to determine appropriate growth ○ Sets developmentally appropriate targets ○ Creates tiered targets when appropriate so that all students may demonstrate growth ○ Sets ambitious yet attainable targets 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ○ Demonstrates teacher knowledge of students and content ○ Explains why target is appropriate for the population ○ Addresses observed student needs ○ Uses data to identify student needs and determine appropriate growth targets ○ Explains how targets align with school and district goals ○ Sets rigorous expectations for students and teacher(s)

Teacher Evaluation System Glossary of Terms

Conference: It is understood that accurately evaluating a teacher's performance is much more than observing a teacher in the classroom. Information about many of the standards can only be obtained through conversations and conferences with teachers. Supervisors evaluate information from conferences when completing the Standards Review Form.

Contract Teacher: Any teacher that has completed three successful years as a Probationary teacher in Cascade. Contract teachers by state law have a two-year contract with the district that is up for renewal annually by the school board.

Formal Observation: A formal observation is a scheduled classroom visit by a supervisor that results in some kind of written feedback from the supervisor including a standards evaluation on the Standards Review Form. Formal observation usually occurs during an Observation Year, but they can occur at any time a supervisor deems necessary. Probationary teachers are formally observed at least twice a year, and Contract teachers are formally observed at least once every three years.

Formative Assessment: Formative assessments occur during an instructional unit. Formative assessments are used to inform and guide instruction.

Informal Observation: An informal observation is an unscheduled classroom visit by a supervisor that does not include the Standards Review Form. Supervisors are expected and encouraged to frequently be in classrooms on an informal basis. These visits are generally unannounced walkthroughs, but could also include documenting the visit using observation tools the supervisor has developed or notes given to the teacher. Data from informal observations are used to help determine a teacher's performance.

Observation Year: An observation Year is a school year where a teacher is formally observed and evaluated on the Summative Evaluation Form. Every year is an Observation Year for Probationary teachers, and one year out of three is an Observation Year for Contract teachers. Teachers may elect to use the Performance Goal Form during their Observation Year to receive additional support.

Performance Levels: Performance levels are used throughout this evaluation system. Levels used to rate teachers on the standards are based on the following scale: Unsatisfactory, Basic, Proficient, and DISTINGUISHED. It is important to realize that through this system defines how to evaluate teachers according to standards, determinations about teacher performance can also be made according to state law, and there are incidents when state law would supersede this evaluation system.

The descriptors for the performance levels are as follows:

- ❖ Unsatisfactory (U): Does not meet standards; performs below the expectations for good performance under this standard; requires direct intervention and support to improve practice.
- ❖ Basic (B): Making sufficient progress toward meeting this standard; meets expectations for good performance most of the time and shows continuous improvement; expected improvement through focused professional learning and growth plan.
- ❖ Proficient (P): Consistently meets expectations for good performance under this standard; demonstrates effective practices and impact on student learning; continues to improve professional practice through ongoing professional learning.
- ❖ DISTINGUISHED (E): Consistently exceeds expectations for good performance under this standard; demonstrates highly effective practices and impact on student learning; continued expansion of expertise through professional learning and leadership opportunities.

Performance Standards: State law requires each district to establish performance standards that will be used to evaluate teacher performance. The development of performance standards must be in coordination with the local teachers' association. The Cascade Teacher Evaluation System has 17 performance standards, and components of these standards are used to set goals for teacher performance.

Probationary Teacher: Any teacher in their first three years of teaching in any district in Oregon.

Professional Development Plan: This form is used to document the certified staff member's professional growth for licensure. This form is required by the Teacher Standards and Practices Commission (TSPC) and is the responsibility of the teacher to maintain during the licensure cycle.

Professional Growth Cycle: Contract teachers participate in the Professional Growth Cycle. The Professional Growth Cycle is a three-year cycle that begins with two Growth Years followed by an Observation Year. Teachers begin their Growth Year by completing the Professional Growth Form and choosing a professional growth activity. At the end of the second year, teacher reflects on their activity and meets with their supervisor to plan their Observation Year. Teachers may elect to use the Performance Goal Setting Form to receive additional support on one or more standards.

Plan of Assistance for Improvement: When a teacher has an unsatisfactory evaluation or standards review, the teacher is placed on a Plan of Assistance for Improvement. The Plan of Assistance is formal and involves the District and Association. If a teacher does not improve through the Plan of Assistance, they will not be recommended for rehire to the School Board.

Summative Evaluation: The supervisor completes the Summative Evaluation by evaluating a teacher's performance on the 14 Cascade teaching and learning standards. When completing the Summative Evaluation, each standard is evaluated as a whole. Extended definitions on all of the standards including guiding questions, and evidence to look for can be found on the rubric pages of this manual.

Summative Assessment: Summative assessment occurs at the end of an instructional unit or period of time.

Temporary Teacher: Any teacher employed to fill a position designated as temporary or experimental or to fill a vacancy which occurs after the opening of school because of unanticipated enrollment or because of the death, disability, retirement, resignation, contract non-extension or dismissal of a contract or probationary teacher.
